CONTINUING EDUCATION PROGRAM

The BRILLIANT Mind

Neuropsychology is the study of brain-behaviour relationships. Classical Neuropsychology was developed from scientific investigations on head injury casualties from the two world wars. Modern Clinical Neuropsychology is based on examination and treatment of patients with various neurological disorders, neurosurgical procedures, neuropsychiatric conditions, and neurorehabilitative interventions. This presentation introduces the basic rationale and structure of a clinical neuropsychological examination in a tertiary medical institution, with case examples to illustrate the complexity of cognitive test interpretation and diagnostic case formulation.

The Speaker/Trainer:

DR. DONALD YEO, PsyD

Senior Neuropsychologist, SGH

Dr DONALD YEO graduated with a Bachelor of Science with Honours in Psychology from the University of Nottingham in 1994, and a Doctor of Psychology from the University of Melbourne in 2004. As a Senior Neuropsychologist in SGH Department of Neurology and Visiting Neuropsychologist in CGH Department of Rehabilitation Medicine, he conducts cognitive evaluation and rehabilitation for patients with neurological disorders, such as dementia, stroke, head injury and epilepsy. He is an Adjunct Assistant Professor at NUS Department of Psychology, Associate Lecturer and Practicum Supervisor at James Cook University Singapore. He received the Pioneer Educator Award from the SGH Postgraduate Allied Health Institute in 2006.
